Introduction

Sports Law has become an established field of legal scholarship and practice.

On this basis the Sports Law and Policy Centre Srls organizes the Executive Programme in Sports Law and Justice in order to provide an in-depth analysis of the latest development in such a fascinating and complex field.

The Programme in International Sports Law is designed for qualified lawyers and for those who already work for Sports Associations, Leagues and Clubs.

In this perspective the lecturers will examine the current legal provisions as adopted by the Sports Associations as well as the latest case law delivered by the highest sports arbitration bodies and international ordinary tribunals.

Thanks to its practical approach the Programme will offer the opportunity to:

- Acquire a deep insight and understanding of crucial sports law issues;
- Analyze the most important case law through timely debates and workshops with experienced lawyers and arbitrators;
- Keep up to date with the latest cases and their practical impact on the sports stakeholders;
- Be in contact with the leading experts in the field, and
- Create and improve your own international network.

Programme

The Executive Programme in International Sports Law offers an intensive study period on law as applied to sport.

The programme is English taught and structured in a six-day period in Ravello (Amalfi Coast – Italy).

Participants may follow the entire programme or any of the following modules:

- New FIFA Regulations on Intermediaries
- CAS Procedure and Substantial law
- International Transfer of Players
- Doping (WADA and CAS jurisprudence)
- New Rules on Third Party Ownership
- Financial Fair Play
- Employment and Commercial Agreements in Sport
